Senior Software Engineer
RoadRecord

For the last 10 years I've been architecting, developing (using TDD), securing, and maintaining projects mainly written in Python (Django) and TypeScript (Angular). I've created and managed "immutable infrastructures" for these projects using Terraform and AWS. I've introduced performance optimisations across the stack, from the database through the architecture level.

During my career I've lead several successful projects and occasionally teams under five. I'm also a skilled technical writer known for my conciseness.

About me

I'm self-sufficient, and value freedom and good team dynamics above all else at work. I'm currently learning rust to get more familiar with lower-level concepts and embedded software.
